Organize One-day National Seminar on

The Language of the Soul: Vachanas, Sufi and Zen Buddhism

Date: Friday, 12 September 2025

Venue: Kalpataru Auditorium

About us:

The Kalpataru Vidya Samsthe was established in the year 1961 by A.C. Pallagatti and a few other like-minded philanthropists with the singular intention of providing quality education at affordable fee for the rural masses. Since then the institution has been growing steadily from strength to strength. Today, it has 8 institutions from Kindergarten to Post Graduation level. Our Institution responds to contemporary trends by fostering fresh imaginations, adopting innovative methodologies and embracing a revitalized ethical framework to shape the next generation of citizens and stake holders.

Objectives of the Seminar

- Engage with Eastern Philosophical Discourses
Explore the foundational thought systems of Vachana literature, Sufi mysticism, and Zen Buddhism, offering comparative insights into Asian spiritual traditions.
- Analyze Core Teachings and Sociopolitical Impact
Examine how these traditions shaped political consciousness, inspired cultural movements, and influenced historical contexts.
- Examine Mystical Dimensions & Devotional Practices in India
Understand how mystical experiences and devotional expressions contribute to the formation of spiritual identity and promote social cohesion.
- Reflect on Enlightenment & Mythmaking
Investigate personal and collective quests for enlightenment, with a focus on mythology and symbolic archetypes in canonical texts and oral traditions.
- Explore Social Commentary & Linguistic Paradigms
Analyze the critique of societal structures and the role of language as a tool for inquiry—particularly in relation to marginality, resistance, and reform.
